

BFE GALA EVENING

February 22, 2008

What would Mozart's City be without the most prominent feature in its skyline? Reigning majestically over the city rooftops, The 900-year-old Hohensalzburg Fortress dominates the cityscape and is the biggest and most fully-preserved fortification in Europe. Built by Archbishop Gebhard during the investiture controversy in 1077, it served to protect the clergy and the population.
